

When # subjects or variable names is large, there is an option to highlight only those with a miss % above a threshold each “blackhole” identifies missing data for that combination of subject and variable subject group

miss % across variables